October 13, 2022 (Las Vegas, NV) – Las Vegas Lights FC and the Silver State Sports & Entertainment Network (SSEN) announced today a new partnership. SSEN is the new broadcast channel recently launched by FOX5 KVVU which is available over the air in Southern Nevada on broadcast channel 5.2 as well as Cox channel 125 on cable.

Starting immediately, Lights FC historical matches (including immediate re-airs of this season's matches) will begin being shown on SSEN. An announcement on future live match broadcasts will be made in the future.

"We are extremely excited about the opportunities that this new outlet provides, further showcasing Las Vegas' local professional soccer club on television," said Lights FC Owner & C.E.O. Brett Lashbrook. "Thank you to FOX5 KVVU Vice President and General Manager Michael Korr for his vision to make this a reality."

SSEN is dedicated to local sports and action-packed content and this partnership follows its recent announcement to air live & re-air broadcasts across a multitude of UNLV Athletics' sports.

"We are excited to add the Las Vegas Lights FC to our expanding coverage of local collegiate and professional teams" Korr said. "The partnership with the Las Vegas Lights FC will be a foundational piece of the Silver State Sports and Entertainment Network which will continue to grow throughout the years."

Lights FC is in its fifth anniversary season with a push to make the 2022 United Soccer League Playoffs. With the final match of the season this Saturday night in Los Angeles, Lights FC is one of three Western Conference clubs still alive for the final two playoff spots.
